

Fats, Oils, and Grease Service Provider List

The businesses listed below provide maintenance, installation, or parts for grease pretreatment devices or provide recycling services for grease oil. This list is not intended to be inclusive of all contractors available and is being provided as an example of contractors who, as of this printing, are available to provide these services. However any licensed and bonded contractor can also provide these services (check your local yellow pages). This list represents businesses that have made themselves known to the City of Seattle Public Utilities. The City of Seattle Public Utilities can make no recommendations regarding specific businesses that perform grease management services.

Note: It is prudent to obtain at least three bids. This is a competitive field and it is often possible to realize substantial savings by soliciting competitive bids. Once you have chosen a contractor be sure and obtain the necessary permits to do the work you desire. If you or your contractor have any problems be sure and contact your city's grease management program for more information
